Installation Instructions

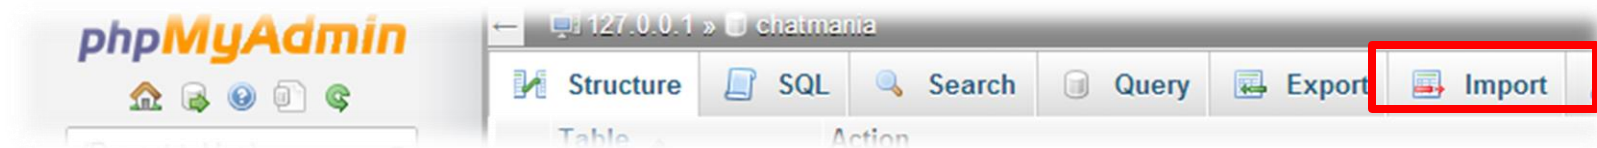

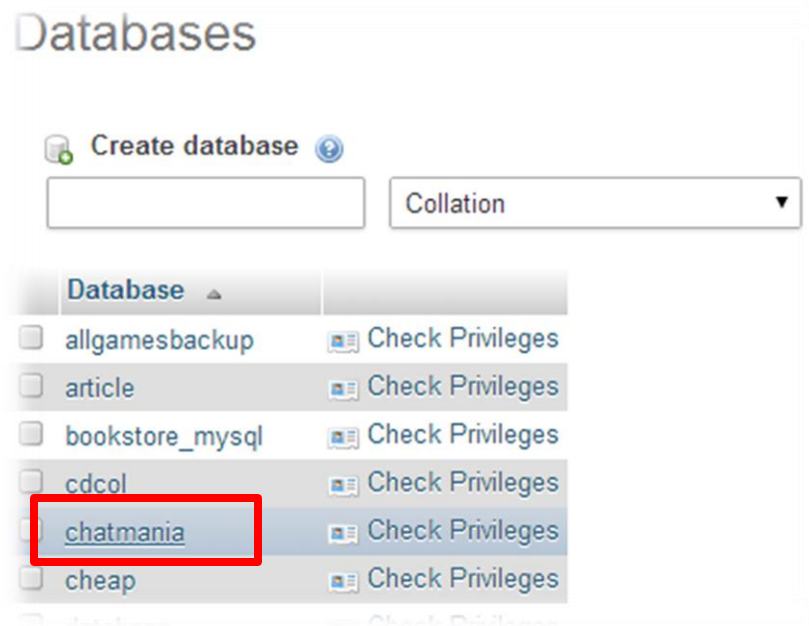

Please follow the instructions below to install your Chat Mania Website on your hosting account:

- Log into the cPanel of your hosting account. On your cPanel you'll see a number of options select the MySQL option to create a MySQL database.
- To create the database enter a database name(Preferably chatmania), a username and a password and hit the create database button. (Please remember these details that you've entered you'll need them later on in the installation).
- Once the database is created go back to your cPanel and choose the PHPMyAdmin option. Once logged in to PHPMyAdmin click on the Databases tab(Please note the interface may look a little different based on the version your using).

Installation Instructions

- You should now be able to see the database you just created (If not please wait a few more minutes and reload the page).
- Click on the database and then select the import tab.

Installation Instructions

- Once on the import tab you'll see a Choose File button click on that button, a file dialog will popup navigate to the ChatMania folder on your computer. Within the folder you'll see another folder named database. Within the database folder you'll see a file named chatmania1.sql. Select this file. Now hit the Go button at the bottom of the import page.

Installation Instructions

- Now that your database is set up go into the ChatMania folder on your computer and open the file named config.php with a text editor(preferably notepad). Change the value assigned to the variables to the database name, username and password you created earlier(from the MySQL step) and hit save.
- For example if I named my database chatmania, my username user1 and my password abc123. The changes I would have to make to the config file would look like this:

```
<?php
$dbHost = "localhost";
$dbName = "ChatMania"; //Change database name
$dbUsername = "root"; //Change username
$dbPassword = ""; //Change password
```

```
<?php
$dbHost = "localhost";
$dbName = "chatmania"; //Change database name
$dbUsername = "user1"; //Change username
$dbPassword = "abc123"; //Change password
?>

Installation Instructions

- Now all you have to do is to upload all files and folders in the ChatMania folder to your hosting account. You must retain the exact directory structure. If you have an FTP software you can easily upload everything in the folder to your hosting account. If you don't have an FTP software you can also upload everything from your cPanel.
- On your cPanel look for the File Manager option. Click on this option you should see a directory-like structure if you see a public_html or www folder click on this folder and upload everything in the ChatMania folder on your computer to this folder. Remember you must retain the directory structure, so you may have to create the individual folders in the public_html folder and then upload the respective files to their folders.
- For example if you look within the ChatMania folder you'll notice an Images folder and within the Images folder there are other folders. So in your public_html folder you will create an Images folder and upload all files that are in the Images folder on your computer to the Images folder you created in public_html on your hosting account. You'll do the same for the folders that are in the Images folder.

Website Customisation

- Once your website is set up you can now log into your admin panel(not cPanel) at yourwebsiteaddress.com/adminpanel.php Replace yourwebsiteaddress.com with your actual website address.
- Your username is admin and your password is admin100 . Login to your admin panel and change your login details.
- Also from your admin panel you can change your website's name, description, add/remove chatrooms etc.
